I would like to say that patty was my biological mother as well. she had 5 children. I can say i have any memories with her that are good .I am not hear to talk ill towards her. I would have been nice for her to have the same feelings as a mother should have instead abandoning them, but we all have our faults .I was your last child who just wanted a mother and now its gone. where ever you maybe I hope that you can see the pain that is in your children. Your youngest Mandy
